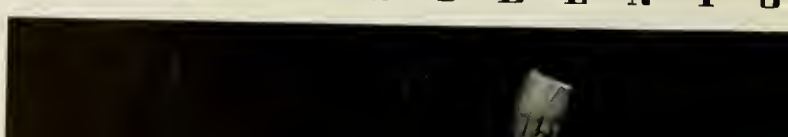
MONTICOLA 1941

PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENTS



Just what significance has the name, 'Monticola'?" we were asked by a student the other day. Well, just what does it mean, the staff asked itself collectively, and thus was born a search for knowledge.

Memories of high school Latin were perused and the only information obtained was that the word had some connection with mountains. Finally the first assistant to the associate assistant literary editor spoke up and suggested the dictionary.

There it was, a combination of two good Latin words, "mons" meaning mountain, and "colere," to dwell; together they meant mountain dwellers, or in our language, mountaineers.

With this mystery solved, we would like to present the results of our combined efforts, ambitions and hopes.

Any attempt to fully record the history of one college year would be impossible; all that the Monticola can do, as the student annual, is to endeavor to separate the wheat from the chaff, to portray the high spots of the ever changing panorama in such a way as to recall to each student his personal contribution to the stream of events, an admittedly ambitious undertaking.

The 1941 Monticola has believed that it could best fulfill this desire by employing the style used this year, a workable compromise between the conservatism of the usual college annual and the radical change for the sake of change ideal of some ultra modern publications.

FOREWORD

DEDICATION

Pioneer, Builder, Philanthropist

To M. L. Benedum, a great American whose contributions to the material, cultural and spiritual advancement of the Nation have brought honor and credit to his native State of West Virginia, the 1941 "Monticola" is dedicated as a further expression of West Virginia University's appreciation of him and his achievements.

Born in Bridgeport, Harrison County, in 1869, his life span has been virtually contemporaneous with that of the University, which was founded just two years earlier. Equipped with only such limited education as was afforded by the public schools of that day, Mr. Benedum, in a half century devoted to the oil business, has created untold wealth for others and in the process has gained and preserved a large personal fortune. In the wake of his discoveries of petroleum deposits, prosperous communities have sprung up from trackless prairies and bleak mountain plateaus. Through his daring and ingenuity the national wealth has been tremendously increased, and in one instance an entire nation—Colombia—was freed of debt and the living standards of its people elevated because he and his associates uncovered the Acres of Diamonds that lay unsuspected in its jungles. Known throughout the petroleum industry as The Great Wildcatter, he is credited with having discovered more oil than any other individual in history.

A firm believer in the philosophy that man is only a temporary trustee of wealth gained by talents with which he is endowed by Providence, and keenly conscious of his responsibility to his God, his country and his fellowman, Mr. Benedum has wisely conserved the fruits of his labor. Only of friendship and good cheer has he been a spendthrift. Yet he has given generously of his time, energy and substance to the church, the cause of education, and philanthropy in general.

He is a member of the Board of Emory Methodist Church, of Pittsburgh, is Trustee of Western Pennsylvania Hospital, of Pittsburgh, and of Grove City College and Bucknell University; and holds honorary degrees from Bucknell and West Virginia Universities. These represent only a partial list of the honors that have been conferred upon this distinguished son of West Virginia, whose romantic business career so typifies the American way of life.

Young men and women of today may safely follow the trail he has blazed. It may not lead them to the material wealth that he found along the way but if they be true to his sublime philosophy they will attain these real and enduring values of life that are not measured by the yardstick of the counting room.

The President

OF WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY

This 1941 issue of the Monticola is a portrayal of events that have taken place here at the University during the past year. In it are represented nearly all of the activities of the University—academic and extra-curricular. I wish to commend the editors of the Monticola for the fine way in which the publication has been presented, and I know that as the members of the graduating class leaf through this volume in the years to come it will recall to their minds many happy days on the campus.

Dr. Charles E. Lawall

To the seniors who have completed their work at the University and are leaving the campus, may I say that I hope you will find many opportunities to come back and visit your Alma Mater and that you will always maintain an active interest in its activities and progress.

May I extend to each of you my very best wishes for your continued success.

Sincerely yours,

Chas. E. Lawall

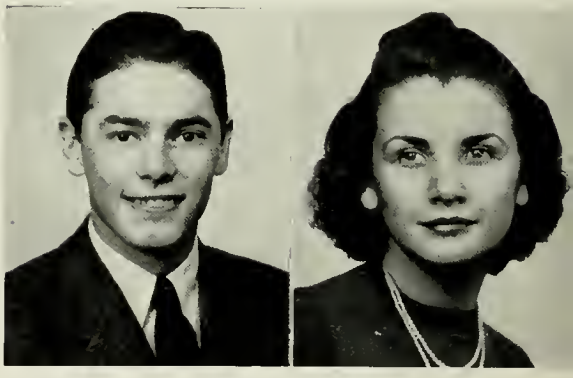
THE STUDENT COUNCIL



JAMES McCARTNEY HELEN TAYLOR

The Student Council of West Virginia University is potentially an important governing body. Powers granted it by the student constitution include the appointment of a student budget commission, whose responsibilities are spread far and thinly over student matters fiscal, and supervision of student election.

The Interfraternity Council is the governing body of the men's fraternities on the campus and is composed of one senior and one junior representative from each organization; only the senior representative is allowed to vote. During the past year the council sponsored the annual Men's Pan in the armory; Jack Teagarden and his orchestra played for dancing. A new addition to the list of council activities is its supervision of an interfraternity bridge tournament, the first of which was played last year.

The Women's Pan-Hellenic Council is the corresponding organization for sororities and its membership consists of the same type of representation as that of the Interfraternity Council. By far the most important activity of the Pan-Hellenic Council is its direct

This is the last article to be written for the 1941 "Monticola" and when it goes into the mail this afternoon, the editorial end of the book will be finished. Today is the day to which we have been looking forward nearly a year, but somehow it doesn't seem much different from yesterday; perhaps from force of habit strengthened by long months of continual work and worry.

A small but efficient staff shared our trials and tribulations and it is only right that they receive recognition. The more active members were: Bob Johnson, Bob Sharps, Jesse Williams, Lee Hancock, John Nichols,

We also want to thank Hugh and Aourdyne Knee and Nate Cole for all-around cooperation, work and advice; Joe Ledbetter and Billy Benson of the Benson Printing Company for their help in planning and printing the "Monticola"; and the many members of the student body and faculty who have made our work much easier than we had expected.

Five days a week the students of West Virginia University are supplied with copies of the "Daily Athenaeum," which is published by students enrolled in the School of Journalism.

In September, 1887, the first copy of the "Athenaeum" rolled from the presses; U. S. Grant Pitzer, its first editor, planned to publish an issue every two weeks, with the help of Julian Fleming, proprietor of the New Dominion steam printing house.

The "Athenaeum" is now published every day except Sunday and Monday; it keeps the students abreast of national and international news through the medium of the United Press.

The staff of the 1940-41 "Athenaeum" included Betty Jean Lee, editor-in-chief; Woodrow Wilson, managing editor; Martha Mae Conner, business manager; news editors: Morton Cohn, Bill Dotson, Don Bond, Robert Provence, Rachel Tuckwiller, Charlotte Manion, Mary Bretz, Bill Kitts, William Bambrick, Frank Rhudy; sports editors: Bill Kitts, Don Bond; assistant sports editors, Charles Edgar and Jay Eby; society editors, Rachel Tuckwiller, Helen Louise Dent, Frances Stotler, Helen Nichols, Eleanor Negri, Harriett Wickers; literary editors, Elinor Richey, Harriett Wickers; assistant business manager, Mark S. Grove.

Founded in 1904, Mountain is the ranking senior men's honorary organization on the campus. Membership in it is limited to outstanding men students who have been enrolled in the university for at least five semesters. New members are chosen in the spring.

MOUNTAIN...

As part of its program of aiding the university in all ways possible, Mountain each year sponsors the Mountaineer Week team, one of the most important of all student activities. Active members of Mountain in 1940-41 were: Harry A. Stansbury, Summit; Harold J. Fleming, Trail; Robert L. Shuman, Cache; Joseph P. Condry, Robert Mellace, Louis R. Miller, William T. Nutter, Paul J. O'Farrell, John L. Sullivan, Douglas Foley, John Hackney, David Johnson, James McCartney, Richard McClung, Douglas Phillips, Ned E. Shott.

AND MOUNTAINEER WEEK TEAM

The Mountaineer Week Team is a group of goodwill emissaries sponsored each year by Mountain, senior men's honorary. Members of the team visit high schools over the entire state and place before their student bodies the advantages of attending West Virginia University. They serve as a liaison between state high schools and the university.

Tryouts for positions are held in early March under the direction of Dr. Richard Aspinall, coach, and it is not until Easter vacation that the team makes its annual tour. This year for the first time, several women students will accompany the group and speak before some of the prospective students of the university. Paul J. O'Farrell is captain of the 1941 team, and Harold Fleming the manager.

SPHINX

Sphinx, senior men's honorary, is one of the most active organizations on the campus of West Virginia University. The most important of its activities, and one of the most important on the campus, is the annual Interfraternity Sing, sponsored by Sphinx each Mother's Day.

Sphinx also sponsors awards for the best decorated fraternity house on Homecoming Day and last year for the first time, it supervised a play contest, designed to create more dramatic interest among campus organizations; each year it gives certificates to the ten highest ranking freshmen. In line with its policy toward freshmen, Sphinx helps to publish the . sh-man handbook and conducts freshman guidance meetings.

FI BATAR CAPPAR

Fi Batar Cappar is the men's mock honorary for lettermen and campus leaders; Alfa chapter was founded at West Virginia University on March 13, 1914. The members of the new society adopted as their badge the small square of leather, emblematic of the goal of college life, the sheepskin. The fastener is a small piece of brass whose significance is a secret of the organization.

Two important functions of Fi Batar are sponsorship of an annual Tag Day, proceeds of which are used to make scholarship loans to minor sports athletes, and participation in the Freshman Honor Court, which serves to prescribe the punishment for violators of freshman rules.

MORTAR BOARD

Mortar Board is the honorary organization for senior women. Its members are chosen from among senior girls who have proven themselves to be outstanding in leadership, scholarship, and service to the university.

Laurel Cottage, a co-operative house maintained for the benefit of university girls is an important contribution made by Mortar Board to the welfare of the student body. Another service project includes the freshman honor roll for girls who make an average of 2.5 or better their first semester.

First row: Sara Beneke, Martha Mae Conner, Mariana Collins, Reva Forman. Second row: Betty Jean Lee, Marjorie Strosnider, Helen Louise Moore.

Rhododendron, junior women's honorary, was organized so that recognition could be given to junior women who had shown promise in scholarship, leadership and character and to give them an opportunity to work together for the benefit of the university.

The organization's most outstanding project is the sponsorship of Rhododendron House, a cooperative establishment organized on the campus in order to help university women to live as economically as possible and yet give them the advantages of group life.

RHODODENDRON

LI-TOON-AWA

Symbolizing the theme of Li-Toon-Awa, "friendship" is the literal translation of its name. The principal function of this organization is the giving of assistance and advice to freshmen women and aiding them to adapt themselves to university life. Members of the club were hostesses at the tea for freshmen girls last fall.

The organization was founded at West Virginia University in 1927 and is the outstanding honorary activity for sophomore women. Officers are: Sylvia Klein, president; Jane Robbins, vice-president; June Plues, secretary; Rose Ann Pearcy, treasurer.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS

Associated Women Students is an organization composed of all women students enrolled in the university. The A. W. S. Council serves as a governing board for the entire association. Officers for the council were: Martha Mae Conner, president; June Watson, first vice-president; Rose Mary Smith, second vice-president; Louise Bergdoll, secretary; and Ann Beatty, treasurer.

Among the varied activities of A. W. S. have been its sponsorship of an Open House at Moore Hall every Friday evening and the annual Gold Diggers Ball, at which the women entertain the men. Freshman guidance meetings were also held in order to acquaint the incoming girls with the campus and all the complications of college life.

THE DRAMA

The dramatic season opened with the University Players' presentation on November 12 of "Cock Robin," a mystery by Philip Barry and Elmer Rice. Actually a play within a play, the scene of this drama was laid on the stage of a theatre during rehearsal; to the audience the effect was that of viewing the play from backstage.

The most serious fare presented to university audiences was the "Kingdom of God," a religious play by Martinez Sierra. In the course of its three acts, the "Kingdom of God" traces the eventful life of Sister Gracia from nurse in an asylum to Mother Superior of an orphanage. This beautiful play was superbly enacted by the largest cast of the year, thirty-five members.

In March the ancient farce, "Charley's Aunt," still popular after thousands of performances, tickled the funnybones of most of the students and townspeople who attended it. The old story of a female impersonator who plays his part so well that he attracts a prospective husband has been used since the Middle Ages, but "Charley's Aunt" never fails to make it funny.

Designed to present a more serious and tragic side of the drama, Maxwell Anderson's "Winterset" was given its university premiere April 28 on the stage of Reynolds Hall. A cast of twenty-one students ably enacted the story of a boy who sought vengeance and justice.

On May 9 the University Players gave three one-act plays for the benefit of Greater West Virginia Week visitors. The three comedies were "No! Not the Russians!", "The Castle of Mr. Simpson," and "Overtones."

. . THE DANCES

First big dance of the year was the Fall Cadet Hop, held in the Armory and featuring Larry Phillips. On the next weekend Mountain sponsored the annual Homecoming Dance, following our victorious assault on the Wildcats of Kentucky. Fraternity and sorority informals followed in rapid succession.

Came the 30th of November and the annual Band Ball; then on December 6 the long awaited Men's Pan. Jack Teagarden and the change from the rough floor of the field house to the Armory gladdened the hearts of hundreds of fraternity men and their dates.

December 18 brought the first Women's Hall Formal; on January 17 the women again paid, this time for the Women's Pan, and the piper was Reggie Childs.

Coming between semesters, an exclusive spot, the Military Ball has long been the top dance of the year and 1941 brought no exception. Vincent Lopez on February 7 packed the Armory with his "name" band, one of the best of the year.

The long suffering women again paid, and plenty, for February 14 was the occasion for the A. W. S. Gold Digger's Ball, where men became coy creatures, incapable even of holding their own coats.

The Men's Hall dance, second Cadet Hop on March 14, fraternity and sorority formals, and the Scabbard and Blade Formal brought the social season up to April 18. On April 25 the Women's Hall Spring Formal concluded the social calendar except for some scattered fraternity formals and the Senior Ball during graduation week.

Organizations

The Ag Council is an organization composed of the presidents of the Ag Club, the Home Ec Club, Phi Upsilon Omicron, Alpha Zeta, and the Forestry Club; Dean Orton acts in an advisory capacity. The purpose of the council is to co-ordinate the activities of the students enrolled in the College of Agriculture, Forestry and Home Economics and through their organizations to further the interests of the university.

During the past year the Ag Council has sponsored several social functions, devised an activity calendar for organizations and acted as mediator in controversial issues.

One of the largest organizations on the campus, the Ag Club was organized in 1932 in order to stimulate social activity among students in the College of Agriculture.

The Ag Club of today accomplishes that and more too, for its program now includes such varied activities as sponsorship of several dances, two radio programs a year, a judging contest in the spring, and aid rendered the College of Agriculture in fulfilling its many functions.

The first Mountaineer Egg and Baby Chick show, now an important annual event, was sponsored by the Ag Club. The yearly All-Ag picnic is an important activity of the Ag Club and usually concludes the program for the year.

ALPHA EPSILON DELTA

Alpha Epsilon Delta, the only national honorary for pre-medical students, was founded at the University of Alabama in 1925 and on the local campus in 1931.

Each year the society sponsors trips to leading medical centers in this section of the country and invites speakers to address the pre-medical students in convocations. This past year a series of educational meetings has been held; after a short business session, members of the medical and pre-medical faculty present short talks upon interesting discoveries in the scientific world.

OFFICERS

ROBERT LYONS . . . . . President

CORNELIUS DAVIS . . . . . Vice-President

BRADY RANDOLPH . . . . Secy. and Treas.

Alpha Psi Omega is the only honorary dramatic fraternity on the local campus. This year its members have been particularly active in playing the role of hosts to the contestants participating in the West Virginia inter-scholastic speech contest and the Thespian contest. They have also been helpful in producing the four plays of the season, "Cock Robin," "Kingdom of God," "Charley's Aunt," and "Winterset."

The most important project undertaken by the fraternity was the improvement of the stage of the Little Theatre which is located in Reynolds Hall.

FOUNDED at West Virginia University in 1931, Chi Sigma Delta has as its purpose the promotion of general interest and scholastic enthusiasm in the study of economics.

Chi Sigma Delta was founded as an entirely honorary fraternity for students who have maintained scholastic leadership in economics. To further this leadership, Chi Sigma Delta gives an award each year to the outstanding junior in the economics department.

It was not until 1914 that the Board of Governors granted the request of the State Pharmaceutical Association that a pharmacy department be established in the School of Medicine; the first course consisted of two years' work and led to the degree, Graduate in Pharmacy. In 1917, three- and four-year courses were added but only the four-year course survived after 1932, meeting the stricter requirements of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy; in 1936 the Board of Governors ordered that a College of Pharmacy be established as a separate unit of the University.

Members of the Dolphin Club are chosen from among outstanding students in swimming classes for women. It is an honorary organization, sponsored by Miss Grace Griffin, associate professor of physical education.

Activities during the past year have included the presentation of an annual water pageant and sponsorship of intramural swimming meets. It has also conducted tryouts for university students who desire to participate in the National Telegraphic Swimming Meet.

PRIMARILY a good fellowship organization, West Virginia Alpha chapter of Eight Ball was founded March 19, 1939. Several social functions are held each semester for the members of the chapter as well as a banquet in May in honor of the graduating seniors.

One of the principal projects of the organization was the awarding of a cup to the winner of the interfraternity Christmas serenade contest; the 1940 award went to Kappa Alpha.

OPEN to all home economics students, the Home Economics Club was created not as an honorary organization, but as a club which would bind together all students interested in home economics.

Each year during the Farm and Home Week, members of the club entertain the university's guests at a tea. One particular project sponsored during the past year was the presentation of speakers; talks were given by Miss Gladys Winegar of the New York Textile Bureau and Miss Barbara Fetterman, personnel manager of Kaufman's Department Store in Pittsburgh.

JOURNALIERS was the result of the friendship of several journalism students who gathered one evening to discuss their profession; those men went home as members of a new organization, Journaliers. That was in 1925, and since then the men's journalism honorary has functioned as an important part of the School of Journalism.

For one evening each year the members of Journaliers are host to the leading newspaper men of West Virginia; it is their job to entertain the visiting members of the state newspaper conference.

MATRIX is the professional society for women journalism students at West Virginia University. Each year Matrix, in cooperation with Sphinx, is charged with the responsibility of publishing the freshman handbook. In addition to this the organization annually edits a single edition of the "Daily Athenaeum" without male help.

Another project is the annual tea which Matrix gives in honor of the wives of visiting editors attending the state newspaper conference.

ORCHESIS is an honorary dance society whose name, appropriately enough, meant "to dance" to the ancient Greeks. Programs of dances are presented several times each year, the most important of these being the annual Guest Night presented for the benefit of parents and friends, and the May Pole Dance which is a part of the Greater West Virginia Week.

Since its establishment in 1928, Senior Orchesis has increased its membership from eleven to approximately thirty.

McCann brought down from behind in Michigan State game.

Take 'em from a purely statistical viewpoint and the Mountaineers beat in just another average football season last fall. They played nine games—four wins, four losses, one tie. Even in ground-gaining, first downs, passing, etc., they played the opposition to a stalemate.

But if you're a Mountaineer fan—one to whom a major victory means a little more than an excuse for a party—you'll rejoice in that season in spite of its apparent mediocrity. For that 1940 football squad was less of an actuality than a potentiality. Bill Kern made a modest debut here, but, brother, he's just begun to fight.

Just as a fair sample of what the blonde Bill has done in one season, look at the case of Glen Ellis. This Morgantown Mercury spent so much of his first two seasons with the varsity on the bench that he had a posterior as splintered as Charlie McCarthy's, but "Hardcoal" took him in hand, taught him a few licks and Glen led all Mountaineer ground-gainers last season with an average of four and a half yards per try.

AINEER FOOTBALL

"Give me another year," quoth the usually modest Kern in an unguarded moment, "and I could make an all-American back out of him."

Outside of the Kentucky game it wasn't so much the teams Kern and the lads whipped as the margins by which they lost to such pigskin plenipotentiaries as Fordham, Penn State and Michigan State.

West Virginia, 47; Westminster, 0

It all started with a field day against Westminster. Everybody realized the Titans were hardly major league competition, but the Kern contingent was pretty well satisfied, all except Kern himself, who rumbled that the boys were "only fair." The first team hadn't got its second wind before a stream of substitutions began pouring onto the field. When it wound up, everybody but the assistant manager had scored and everything was rosy.

West Virginia, 7; Fordham, 20

The Rams out-rushed us, out-passed us, out-first-downed us, and out-Rammed us generally, as all of the experts had predicted. But out of that dismal afternoon the boys managed to salvage one little corner of the game that every Mountaineer fan tucked away in his heart. That was the 48-yard touchdown drive at the opening of the third period. McElwee, Carliss, Shonk, McCann and Seabright took turns hitting the Fordham forwards until Carliss went over from the one-yard line on the eighth play. Seabright came through with the extra point to take a lot of the sting out of the defeat.

West Virginia, 13; Penn State, 17

The Penn State people didn't exactly expect a field day, but they made out game up there the Homecoming attraction, which shows how sure they were of a victory. They won, all right, but they had a few anxious moments first. They picked up a 10-point lead in the first 28 minutes of the first half before Dick McElwee wobbled a pass more than half the length of the field to Bob Mellace, who skipped over with it. In the third period Bob Mellace wrestled Carliss' 20-yard pass away from two Lion defenders and fell across the line to give the Mountaineers a glorious, if short-lived, lead of three points. The Pennpack scored again to win, sketchily.

West Virginia, 32; Wesleyan, 0

The Bobcat game was played on one of those drizzling, drooling days that drives normal people indoors and the rest of us to drink. The first half was as dull as the weather, but things began to break in the third and fourth quarters, when

OF THE SEASON

West Virginia, 0; George Washington, 19

Perhaps the most rankling defeat of the season was at the hands of the George Washingtons. Not that the Colonials weren't favored to win; it's just that seven fumbles in one game looks kind of bad. It was the boys' first game under the lights, however, and it takes a lot of candles to make an October night like afternoon. All three Colonial scores, by the way, came as the result of fumbles in Mountaineer terrain.

West Virginia, 12; Washington and Lee, 7

The Mountaineers adopted an attitude of cold, vengeful deliberation in outplaying the favored Generals all the way around to atone somewhat for the upset of last season. The Kernboys scored four times, to have two touchdowns called back by officials. All in all, if the merriment in the capital hostelries after the game is any indicator, the week-end was entirely successful.

West Virginia, 7; Cincinnati, 7

The more ardent Mountaineer supporters still maintain that Kern and the lads were looking forward to the Kentucky match when they let the Bearcats slip up on them. The fact remains that the plowmen did come here with a beautiful record. McCann scored on a 25-yard canter in the third period, and Seabright added the all-important extra point.

West Virginia, 9; Kentucky, 7

'Twas a glorious victory, Ab Kirwin to the contrary notwithstanding. It was cold enough to justify a bottle and mud was everywhere—including the eye of the thwarted Wildcat. After Kerwin's Kernels had had their way in the first three quarters, something snapped in the Mountaineer offense. The second stringers broke out with a double reverse that shook Bill Gardner loose for 34 yards to the Kentucky eleven. Dick McElwee knuckled a pass to Howard Llewellen in the end zone for the count and Kenny Fryer added the tying point. The beleaguered Wildcats backed up on their heels and, while trying to punt out of their own end zone, were boxed up by half of the Mountaineer line for a safety.

West Virginia, 0; Michigan State, 17

We might have been a little cocky after the Kentucky game, but the Spartans did get a lot of breaks. All of their touchdowns followed costly Mountaineer fumbles and a clipping penalty knocked the Kernmen out of a sure touchdown in the third period. As it was, we ended up outscored, outgained, but even in first downs. Oh, well—.

It might not have been the best season put in by a Mountaineer basketball team, but we'll take it. Jimmy Ruch smashed a twelve-year-old scoring record; we lost only one game on the home floor, toppling such teams as Michigan State, Kentucky, and Washington and Jefferson; and we almost got a bid to the national intercollegiate tournament in Madison Square Garden.

It was a smooth team. Jimmy Ruch ran up the staggering total of 288 points for the season to kick hell out of the record of 273 held jointly by Marshall Glenn and Jack Gocke. Rudy Baric came within three points twice of smashing a record for high scoring in a single game, failing both times because of leaving the game on fouls. Little Roger Hicks swished in 44 out of 50 fouls, plus some beautiful set shots from the foul circle. Scotty Hamilton turned in a beautiful exhibition of to-flight floor play and captain Sam Mandich, colorful as ever, was at his stalwart best consistently.

The Kentucky game was perhaps the most exciting victory of the home season. Although the Wildcats trailed from the first minute of the game, they pushed consistently the slim lead of the Mountaineers. Michigan State started slow, but came back to give the crowd a few anxious moments before the Reesemen won 40-31. The presidents of W. and J. were a big disappointment to local fans. They were definitely off all evening, letting the home team win in a walk, 46-22.

1941 BASKETBALL

Dean Thompson, C. A. Tesch, and Dave Jacobs watch Dr. Lawall draw names from "Legs" Hawley's hat. The drawing decided who played who in the state high school basketball tournament.

Coach Howard Hutson and the trophy ride high on the shoulders of the victorious Victory High School squad. Jim McCartney, student body president, grins in the background.

And speaking of disappointments, the Mountain Men really walked into something when Duquesne's murderously cool team came to the Field House. The Dukes couldn't miss all through the first half, and the hapless locals were dismally off. They wound up by whipping us 51-37, thereby clinching the bid to Madison Square.

But there's that old bromide about try, try again. With only Mandich leaving and a lot of competent gentlemen coming up from the freshman team—well, what do you think?

Bad luck dogged Coach Art Smith and his track squad again last season, when the runnin' and jumpin' Mountaineers won only one meet in four. The win, however, was a decisive victory over Waynesburg and the losses were by narrow margins to Kentucky, W. and L. and Georgetown, the opponents scoring 270 points to 254 for the Mountaineers for the season.

The Mountaineers did put three strong contenders in the field. Spike Hill broke the all-time indoor mark for the broad jump with 22 feet, one and a half inches. He won all four of his contests, besides picking up two firsts and a tie for first in the pole vault. Al Strouse turned in four firsts in the hurdles and 70-yard dash before injuries caught up with him in the Waynesburg meet. Doug Phillips won three of the four discus heaves, losing only to Georgetown's famed Al Blozis. Captain Fred Weiland turned in a good season in the distance runs.

Coach Errett Rodgers polished off his twentieth year as Mountaineer baseball coach last spring with an excellent season, winning nine out of fourteen games. Behind the excellent pitching of Charley Seabright and Johnny Bennett the Mountaineer sluggers popped off such teams as Ohio Wesleyan, Ohio University, Pitt, Temple, and St. Vincents.

The powerful Charlie Hockenberry led the squad at the plate, smashing out an average of .357, which included three homers, a couple of triples and five doubles. His powerful bat brought in 12 runs during the season.

Johnny Bennett was the outstanding pitcher. He won five out of seven games, giving up 50 hits in 53 innings and striking out 33 men. Lefthanded Charlie Seabright won three in five, allowed 46 hits in 45 innings, and struck out 36. Seabright also stood up well at the plate, getting a homer and three triples.

Mountaineer baseball teams are, traditionally, high scorers. The squad batted in, in all, 121 runs for the season to 85 for opponents.

The Mountaineer grapplers might have done their share of the grunting, but it was the fans who came in for most of the groaning in the winter's mat season. The wrasslers had a tough card, and succeeded in getting a headlock on only one foe in six.

Outstanding performance of the year was made by Captain Bob McArdle who climaxed a great collegiate career by winning all his matches but one and leading the squad in scoring. Mac won falls against the Washington and Lee and Navy contenders and was decisioned only by Captain Sorber of Case. He has been defeated only four times in his collegiate career.

Heavyweight Tom Davies was second best on the squad. He won four out of six, pinning his Waynesburg and Case opponents. Lewis Pasculle, the 121-pounder, won falls against Kent State and Temple and a decision against Waynesburg.

First row: Sam Puglia, Charles McDowell, Capt. Beecher Hinkle, Chris Moser, Gene Tudor. Second row: Charles Sampson, Charles Shaw, Crispin Hernandez, Bill Morgan, Beryl Maurer, Coach Neely.

Old Lady Luck slipped a couple below the belt to the Mountaineer boxers this year—Marquis of Queensbury rules to the contrary—with the result that an amazing number of the boys spent an amazing length of time on the canvas. The Neely stable squared-off against seven collegiate foes—five losses, two wins.

Not that we didn't have a good team. Gene Tudor and Sam Puglia went undefeated and the entire squad picked up 21 bouts against 33 for the opposition and fought to draws in two. Four of the five matches we lost were by two points or less.

Tudor, 135-pounder, pulled a Joe Lewis when he outpointed Rankin, the champ, to win our only bout against Wisconsin. He pistoned out TKO's to gentlemen from Army, C. C. N. Y. and Bucknell, decisioned Michigan State's 135-pounder, and won by forfeit at Temple.

Puglia, who joined the squad late, whipped the C. C. N. Y. featherweight once and the Michigan State boy twice and deadlocked his man at Wisconsin. Toughest luck of the season was suffered by C. C. Hernandez, who was tripped twice by the E. I. C. ruling on cuts. Captain Beecher Hinkle won four and lost three in the 175-pound class.

TENNIS

Coach Tom Ennis, who also doubles as a history professor, picked up a few loose ends and led the Mountaineer tennis team to another successful season last spring. The racketeers threw aces into four opponents and were outvolleyed by two for a better than average year.

Bad luck dogged Captain Austin Dudderar, who failed to win a singles match in his final year. Scoring honors for the season went to Don Elsey, who polished off five singles opponents and helped out in two doubles wins. Terry Coffield also turned in a fine season, nicking four in the singles and helping in two doubles victories. Eddie Waddell picked up two of each and Hawkins, Klebe, and Necrovo did all right for themselves, each winning a match or two.

The netmen started slow, losing to Navy and George Washington on their annual eastern trip. They came back, however, to win their last four meets, including two with Washington and Jefferson and one each with Duquesne and Waynesburg. In all, they won 31 matches to 23 for the six opponents.

Mountaineer golfers turned in a better than average season last spring to win three out of five meets with collegiate foes in the East. All victories were by decisive scores, the Mountaineers piling up 29 points against 16 for their opponents.

Captain George Hopkins climaxed a great collegiate career by winning four out of his five matches and picking up three best ball wins, making a collegiate total of 13 wins to five losses. The red-haired Hopkins also turned in the best medalist score of the season, a 74 against Duquesne at the local links.

Woody Wyant also put in an excellent season, winning four and losing one. Bob Wilson, Jack Spencer and Armand Coulson each won three, lost one and tied one.

Alpha Delta Pi, the first secret organization for women, was founded in 1851 at Wesleyan Female College as the Adelphian Society.

Not until 1904 did this society become Alpha Delta Pi; in deference to the older name, the sorority magazine is now called the "Adelphian."

Alpha Upsilon chapter at West Virginia University received its charter in 1924. The 57 active chapters of Alpha Delta Pi have a total membership of over 14,000.

The youngest member of the Miami Triad, Sigma Chi, was founded in 1855 at Miami University. Mu Mu chapter on the campus received its charter in 1895.

Sigma Phi was the first name given to Sigma Chi, but in 1856 members of a rival fraternity stole its ritual and records, making it necessary to change both the name and the secrets.

Delta Chapter's second state governor, Mathew Mansfield Neely, who for 16 years was his state's representative in the Senate.

Golden Anniversary of Delta Chapter of Phi Sigma Kappa

On March 15-16, 1941, Delta Chapter of Phi Sigma Kappa celebrated the 50th anniversary of its founding on the campus of West Virginia University.

The size of the crowd which attended the banquet can be more easily understood from this picture taken at the Hotel Morgan.

AMERICA MARCHES FORWARD

. . . With Electricity!

Now in 1941, with the sound of war drums reverberating across those not-so-far distant lands across the sea, we look with keener eyes upon our own country. We view with pride our own America's march—a steady march forward to an ever higher goal—the betterment of American civilization. We, of the electrical industry, are proud, too, of the part electricity has played in this progressive march.

Only 58 years ago the first electric light plant was opened in New York City. Electricity was then a mysterious factor lighting a few lamps and turning a few motors. Today it has become one of the most important factors in our present-day world, making possible almost undreamed of progress in aviation and transportation, science, communications, industry, commerce and everyday home life.

Electric power has made mass production possible. Volume has gone up, costs down. Factories are cleaner, brighter and safer. To the worker have come higher wages, shorter hours, and new jobs. To all of us a better standard of living . . . through electricity.

We have come a long way since 1892—but this story of accomplishment is still in the writing. Each day those three "partners in progress": men, machines and electrical power are adding another chapter to the health, wealth and happiness of mankind—to the progress and defense of our American civilization.

STOCKS depreciate, BONDS may be defaulted, inflation may come—but so long as a home stands it is shelter, it is security, it is stability for a man and his family—Prices are now very low—Loans are easily secured—Therefore, this is a GOOD time to build.

We invite you to visit our plant, inspect our stock and compare our prices as it is very important that you see the material that is to be used in your home before you purchase same.

We carry a large and complete stock of Lumber and Building Supplies and can manufacture your interior trim and millwork to suit your individual taste at no extra cost.

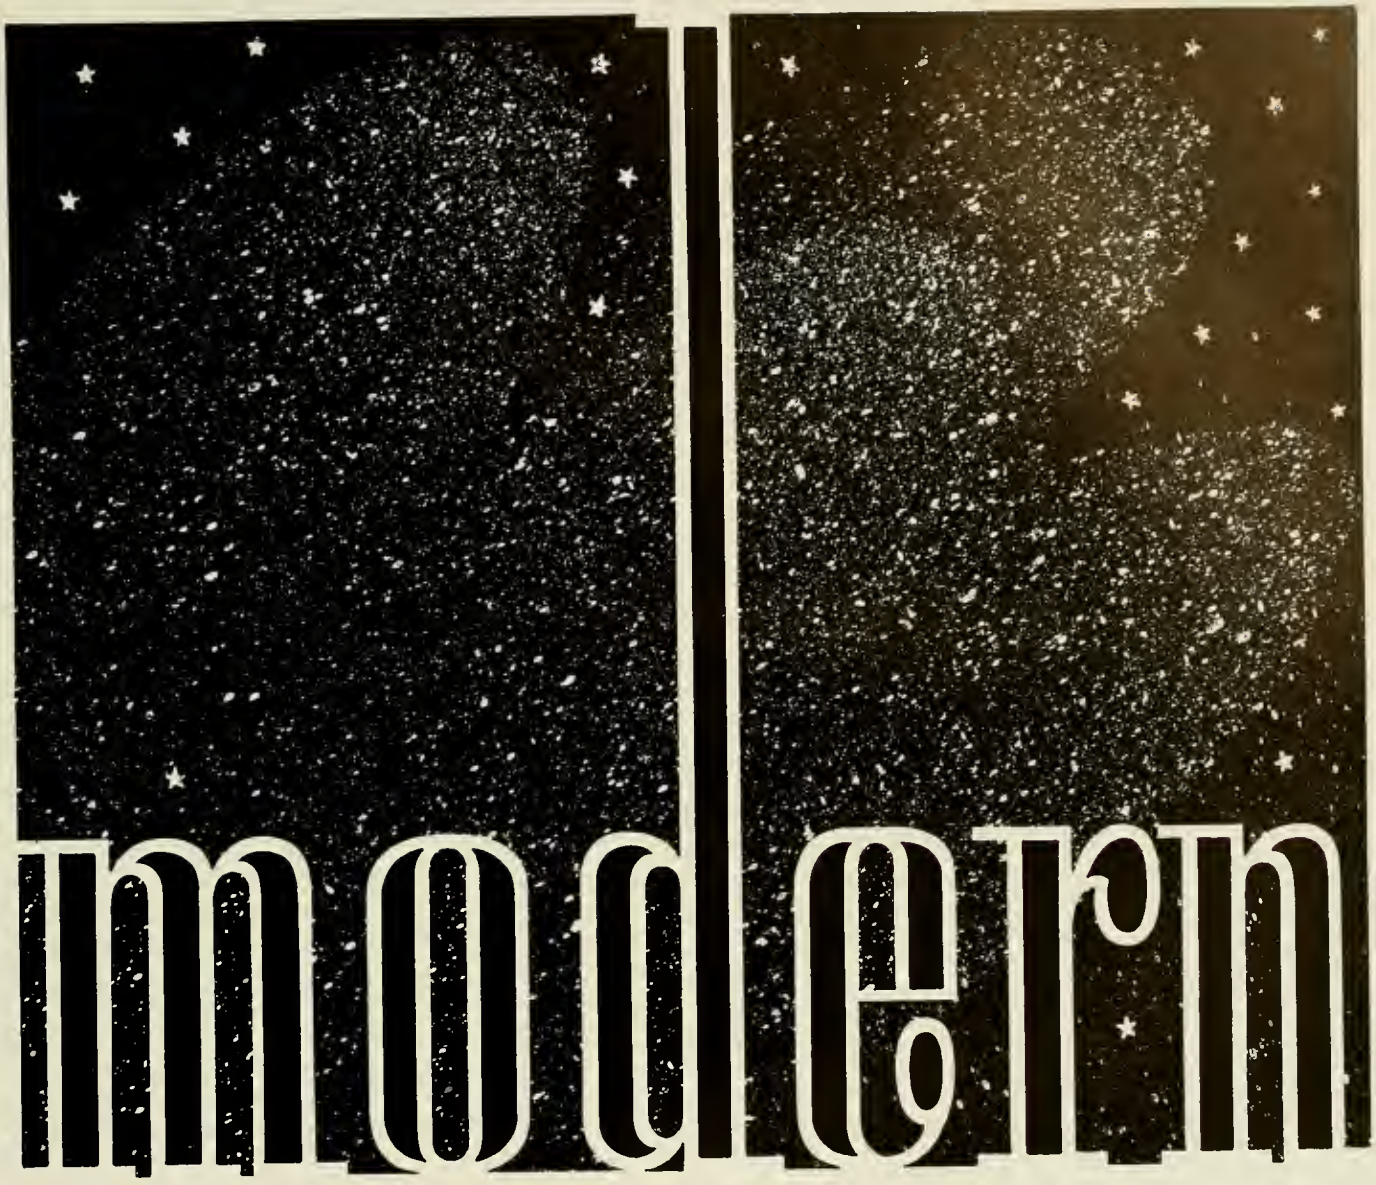
OFFICIAL PHOTOGRAPHERS FOR THE 1941 MONTICOLA



To be able to take the usual elements of picture and story, and present them to your student body in an unusual, new and interesting fashion is to be up-to-date—MODERN.

Through our experienced representatives and art staff we can assure modernism in your annual.

Producing a yearbook with the least amount of wasted energy and unnecessary expense is also modernism. As a result of twenty-two years spent in producing school yearbooks we are well qualified to help you on this and any other phase of annual work.
